

Sagittarius and Capricorn

Capricorn and Sagittarius have a challenging relationship. They both are pretty stubborn and that is probably the only traits they have in common. A Sagittarius love adventure and fancy unpredictable things while a Capricorn is passive but also more stable. Can you imagine the chaos of this two dating? Sagittarius will desire more fun from a Capricorn and the Capricorn will probably sees the Sagittarius as childish. It will be even harder when they hurt each other's feeling, cause it will leave Sagittarius feeling devastated, and Capricorn tend to be unforgiving. If these two wants to make it, they will have to hold on to each other and make big sacrifices. On the other hand, they can be beneficial for each other in work-field cause they challenge each other's intellectual.

Sagittarius and Aquarius

These two overall make a good couple or a good-friendship or both. They attracted to each other's differences. Sagittarius melts away with the calm Aquarius and their lovely ideas. Aquarius loves the outgoing Sagittarius who seems to innovate them more. They really can be a great couple and best friends. The only thing they need to do is know each other's limit. Sagittarius can be mean sometimes and ended up hurting Aquarius's feeling even though they probably didn't mean it. Aquarius needs to open up more to Sagittarius cause being distant will only hurt them more. They probably need to start from being good-friends before being sure that they are made for each other.

Sagittarius and Pisces

These two admires each other a lot. They look cute together. However, when they do get together, it seems like the relationship doesn't make them grow. Pisces is a kindred spirit and always helping others and Sagittarius admires and falls in love with these traits. Sagittarius won't let anyone try to take advantage of the Pisces partner. Pisces is very imaginative and Sagittarius will show them how to make them come true. It's magical what these two have. But sadly, magic is not the only thing you need to grow your relationship. These two will face the trust issues cause they both tend to have their own circle. To make the relationship work, they both have start acting like grown-ups.

Sagittarius and Aries

When these two meet, they always know that they will get along so damn well. There is just an unexplainable bond that this two have. They both are home for each other. They both are so out-going that when they are around other people, they bring warmth and joy. Maybe not always, cause they like to argues. Not big things. Probably stuffs like where to eat, what detergent is better, and is writing essay better than math. The fight won't last because they both just can't stand the silence. These two are really a great match. If they're not a lover then they are definitely partner-in-crime.
